MR. McKEON AND MR. HOWE AT ODDS. WHAT THE DISTRICT-ATTORNEY CONSIDERED AS AN

In Part I of the Court of General Sessions yes'erday, before Judge Cowing. Mrs. Fanny Lewis was on trial on the charge of receiving goods stolen by James J. Madden from Muser Brothers, lace importers, of No. 485 Broome-st. These goods were stolen in the fall of last year, to the value of $20,000, and for them Mrs. Lewis and a Mrs. Grojinsky paid Madden $700. W. F. Howe appeared for the defendant and District-Attorney McKeon for the people, Madden himself was the principal witness against the prisoner, and Mr. Howe asserted that as by his success in securing the conviction of Mrs. Lewis Madden expected to benefit himself, the jury should keep this fact in mind in considering the testimony of the man who stole the goods. Mr. McKeon having questioned the statement of Mr. Howe on that point, the latte read a memorandum on the back of the commitment papers to prove himself correct. As he finished the reading he threw the papers on the District-Attorney's table with such force that they fell to the floor at the feet of the floor to pick them up, with a trembling voice he appeared to the Court, saving that such an act passed the bounds of endurance and that it was an insult not only to the District-Attorney, but to the dignity of the Court itself.

"Your flonor, I must protest—" continued Mr.

"Your Honor, I must protest-" continued Mr.

"Your Honor, I must protest—" continued and McKeon.
"Now what does the gentiemen mean? What have I done?" asked Mr. Howe, addressing the Junge. When it was explained to him that the manner in which he had thrown the papers down was the substance of what Mr. McKeon had taken as an affron. Mr. Howe said:

"His Honor very well knows that I intended no cisrospect. I put the papers on the table with force—" force —"

I insist that the manner was insulting to the decore —" interrupted Mr. McKeon, who was in turn interrupted by Judge Cowing. Mr. McKeon and Mr. Howe were both talking at the same time, the latter with great excitement, Mr. Howe meantime advising Mr. McKeon to "keep cool." Judge Cowing, when he had finally succeeded in making himself heard, said:

"If you will insist on these personal collisions." himself heard, said:

"If you will insist on these personal collisions you must go somewhere else for it. The Court is estimally able to protect itself, and a repetition of this conduct will call for decisive action on my part. The counsel for the defence, I am sure, did not intend any disrespect by the manner in which he threw the papers on the table—he was simply enthusiastic."

He threw them at me," said Mr. McKeon, "and I must insist on protection."

"I will watch these things myself," resumed Judge Cowing, "and I will protect the dignity of the Court. These altercations are exceedingly unpleasant—"

"When I put a paper down again in this court-room," said Mr. Howe, with an exasperating smile, "It shall be done with g essamer lightness, so as not to wound the feelings of this sentimental District-Mr. McKeon made some remark which did not

At, McKeon made some remark which did not a reach the reporters' table, but which called out a charp response from Mr. Howe.

"At another place and at another time I will satisfy you about this matter," said Mr. McKeon, in a coffee-and-pistols-for-, we voice.

'Ins is the only place in which I would recognize you, and you know it," retorted Mr. Howe, as a parting shot.

The arguments of Mr. Howe and Mr. McKeon followed. The case will go to the jury this morning.

At the meeting of the Sinking Fund Commissioners yesterday the following letter was read.

To the Mayor of New York City:

For several months past the existing danger of a great conflagration occurring in what is known as the dry-good district of this city, and of such conflagration exicuting from that district to other points of the city, has ma careful and autious consideration on the part of toth merchants and underwriters. The danger that agen a conflagration may arise is felt to be a very sectors one, and the extent of the disaster, if it should take place, is shaply agoalling, as the loss could easily our run any loss by a single fire that the world ever saw. I evision is now being made to dunfirst these dangers, but what is most essential for the protection so greatly needed is an abmodant supply of water at such pressure as will carry the water to lace top of the many high buildings in the district, and furnish at that height an efficient pressure for practical use. Nothing that has been suggested in respect to the Croton Valley water houses that imperative need, and the only plan yet proposed that will turnish the e-cled pressure is limit known as the Ramapo scheme, which, we are assured, will carry the water higher than the top of irruity Church spire, which will meet the accessity of the position. CHARGED WITH ABANDONING HIS WIFE.

John W. Rowan, formerly manager of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's store in Jersey City, before Just ce Davis in Jersey City yesterday was charged with having abandoned his wife. Mrs. Rowan was formerly Miss Hattle Wagner, the daughter of William Wagner, of No 251 Kailroacave, who holds an important position on the Central Railroad of New-Jersey. The acquaintance of the two was begun at the store, Rowan introducing himself under the mane of Wane. The gui was betraved by him and he consecuted to marry ner, and at a hous in West Twenty-third-st., New-York, a marriage ceremony was performed by a man, who represented himself as the Rey. Edmund Guilbert, pasior of an Episcopal Church in Madison-ave. The young couple returned to Jersey City and were started in housekeeping by the bride's father, but after hving together for three weeks Rowan disappeared and the girl was obliged to return to her father's house. Rowan was arrested, and it was learned that the marriage certificate was a forgery and that the names of the clergyman, principals and witnesses had been all written by the same person. Rowan denied ever having married the young woman, or that he pretended to marry her, and he alleged that somebody must have personated him when the ceremony was performed; but accertal witnesses testified that he had introduced the complainant as his wife. The father of the girl, who was much excited, used threatening language to Rowan in court. The case was adjourned until Friday. CHARGED WITH ABANDONING HIS WIFE. language to A lourned until Friday.

LABOR TROUBLES AND THEIR CURE. THE CURST OF LIQUOR-CROWDED TENEMENT

THE CURSE OF LIQUOR—CROWDED TENEMENTHOUSES—PALIROAD CHARGES.

Joseph Medill, Edutor of The Chic-go Tribune, testified before Senator Blair's Committee yesterday upon the relations existing between capital and labor, and kindred social topics. He is below the average height, has gray hair and beard, and wore a well-fitting suit of dark grads. He spoke in a clear, distinct manner, but was obliged to make use of an ear-trumpet when listening to the questions
propounded by the members of the committee.

"I believe," he said, "that the orief cause of the impecunious condition of the wage classes of this country is their own proudners and lack of thrift,
I do many people are trying to get along without work. Those who do toil squander the greater part of their wages in drink and tobacco. On small wages a man can still save something. The wisest political tunker on social questions the United States has yet produced once said that 'a penny saved is a penny earned.' It was to the working classes that Dr. Flankinn was speaking, and I must sav that I have never known a workman, no matter what his camines were, who, if he spent his money for smoke and drink, ever accumulated anything. Those who have closely examined the subject have stated that working-men spend at least $400,000,000 per annum for liquor, and nearly $2,000,000 for cigars and totacco. The money thus thrown away during the last ten years would have been sufficient to provide a comfortable
home for every family in this country.
Placed at interest this amount would to-day have reached the high figure of $5,000,000,000. Drink, Laffirm, is the procession of nearly all the ills to which the poor men of the United States are subjected. No trades unions or other combinations can ever bring tellef to them in the absence of to-superance and economy. High license—the higher the better—will reduce the number of grogacries
and the inclination on the part of the people to visit them. I have very little failt in political prohibition or schemes of that sort.

" HOUSE-PAILROAD CHARGES.

In his after-life."

Concerning railroad charges Mr. Medill said that the transian furnitation of freight tariffs occasioned great losses to mere ants. At present nothing could be determined in regard to the future shipments of crops. Railroads had it in their power to destroy thousands of dollars by raising or depressing freight players. He thought that here to destroy thousands of delians by raising of depressing freight charges. He thought that tors power should not be given to the railroads, but should be confined exe usively to the Government,
"What is your opn ion of the work in which this committee is engaged?" asked Senator Pugh.
"Tout's a delicate question." and Mr. Medili with a smile. "However, I will say that I believe you will be able to recommend to Congress the adoption of such measures as will remove some of the difficulties which now exist, or you will be able to deciare to the people of this country that such to deciare to the people of this country that such matters are outside the jurisdiction of legislation. Reuben E. DYSPEPSIA.

"For three years previous to the spring of 1852 I was a savere sufferer from dyspepsia or indigestion. Almost all Finds of food distressed me and at times caused me great suffering particularly at night after retiring. Not unite quently was it the case that my distress was so great that I was kept awake a great part of the night. Finally I was inqueed to try Hood's Sarsapsrills. I almost immediately bega to experience a benefit. My digestion grainally improve My food reished and did me goed. I could retire at night and seep soundly, without the former distress that before disturbed me. After using less than two bottles I was enabled to almost entirely discontinue its use, my digestive powers assumed so healthy a tone. Being grateful for the great good I conceive I received from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I most cordially recommend a trial of it to any who may be suffering as I was."—EMELIE L. TO THE PUBLIC.

Some years ago I had the honor of presenting to the gentlemen of New-York the "Alpine" or "Tyrolean" soft felt hat and the pleasure of seeing how readily it was adopted by the American public. No hat since then has been manufactured that so completely met the requirements of an American gentleman. I have now pleasure in announcing that on Saturday next, September 29, I will present for your favorable consideration a new and perfect soft felt hat, one that can be worn upon any and all occasions.

The "FEDORA!"

This hat was designed by the famous French artist. "Garvarny," manufactured in Paris, of the best materials, and by the most skilled workmen. It is in three colors, "Noir," "Marron" and "Nubien"; is now in the New-York Custom House, and will be on sale at my establishments ONLY. Respectfully,
